Smilingly, Jean Batten, famous aviator, of New Zealand, contemplates "Jean Batten" at Madam Tussaud's, famous wax works at London. The problem is to select the fish-and-birds Batten Batten.

Will help you out a bit by telling you that the girl who handled the stick in a recent record-breaking flight from New Zealand to England, is at the right. Miss Batten is a modest holder of air records.

Aged Woman Instantly Killed By Skidding Car

Mrs. Ellen McFarlane, 63, Crushed Between Auto and Tree as Brakes Fail to Hold On Icy Pavement

Mrs. Ellen McFarlane, 63, 9903 104 street, was killed instantly when her car was crushed between a road-side tree and a car driven by Charles Edward Taplin, trainman, 9507 104 avenue, at the intersection of 103 street and 100 avenue at 8:05 p.m. Saturday.

By a cruel twist of fate, Mrs. McFarlane, her own son, ambulance driver for Foster and McGraw Limited, whose undertaking parlor is one of the few steps from the scene of the accident, was called to take charge of the funeral.

RELIEF MINUS WORK WORST METHOD USED

Line of Demarcation For Jobless Made In Manitoba

By CARL REINKE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Dec. 6.—Relief without work was the worst possible method of handling the unemployment situation from the standpoint of the recipient, regardless of age, A. MacNair, Manitoba deputy minister of public works and labor, said today before the House of Commons.

In relief administration in Manitoba, distinction was made between employable and unemployable, he said. The line of demarcation applied at the first receipt of relief. Those who were employable were given work, and those who were unemployable were given relief.

Those who were employable were given work, and those who were unemployable were given relief.

Liberal Party Is Reform Body Avers Gardiner

Federal Minister Draws Sharp Line Between Policies of Two Major Groups—Time For Federal Election Organization

MACLEOD, Dec. 6.—Leadership in reform has always been taken by the Liberal party in the Old Country and in Canada, and the places for all reform elements who are sincere and anxious to find a solution to the present debt problem of Western Canada, and for the economic ills which are retarding world progress, is in the ranks of the Liberal party, declared Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture in the Federal government, addressing a large convention of Liberals representing the Federal riding of Macleod on Friday.

Although speaking on Federal matters, Hon. Mr. Gardiner also urged a strong Federal Liberal party in Alberta pledged to progress and reform.

Harvey Leroy Thompson, 51, Held By Police

At Peace River—Domestic Quarrel Hinted At In Meagre Reports

PEACE RIVER, Dec. 6.—Charred almost beyond recognition the body of Mrs. Harvey Leroy Thompson, 56, wife of a farmer in the Whitelaw district, 240 miles northwest of Edmonton, was recovered from the smoking ruins of her farm home on Saturday, and as a result of a preliminary investigation her husband, five years her junior, is now held in custody on a charge of murder.

Thompson surrendered to the police following the fire, and it was stated that Mrs. Thompson died before the house was burned. Injuries to the head, evidently inflicted by some blunt instrument, are said to have caused her death, although no body was found that further investigation will be necessary.

Thompson was brought up to the Fairview detachment of the R.C.M.P. and is now held in cells at the Peace River barracks.

Following the inquest Thompson was formally charged with murder and remanded in custody for eight days for a preliminary hearing.

Meagre reports from the district indicate that a series of domestic quarrels preceded the death of Mrs. Thompson, which occurred early on Saturday morning.

In the event that Thompson is sent for trial on the murder charge this will make the third murder trial on the docket for the next session of the court.

Liberal Party Ripe to Organize for Federal Election

GRIT PARTISAN REFORM GROUP GARDINER SAYS

Federal Minister Draws Sharp Line Between Two Major Parties

and I am sure he will desire for Liberalism," he promised.

In the federal field, however, the minister of agriculture advised that the Liberal organization should begin at once. In recent years, he recalled, Alberta had not given sufficient backing to any federal government. For many years, Alberta M.P.'s had constantly expounded their own political theories and since the last federal election representatives of this province had constantly failed of Social Credit.

"Even if it is the building of a railroad, the only system is Social Credit," he declared.

LIBERAL STRUGGLE

The only person who could conceivably say that both old line parties were alike is a Socialist, he continued. Both Liberals and Conservatives are opposed to Socialism because it has been tried in different places and abandoned. It has been based on the idea that a small group of technical people are capable of governing better than the masses.

He traced the development of England from the time of William the Conqueror, explaining the influence of the Liberal party there to re-establish the people of private ownership. When settlers came to this country with that background, they determined to give people the right to own land and to develop family rights within those holdings.

"Liberation of yesterday became Conservatism of today, for the Liberal party has been taken by the Liberal party in the Old Country and here," he declared.

A big difference between Liberalism and Conservatism is the administration of government, he explained. A splendid example was given in reference to the Liberal party in 1834. There premier Rogers had collected the taxes of the wealthy, higher taxes and operated at a surplus rather than a deficit, supplying better education and other Liberal principles. In this he was following the Liberal principles.

SMALL GROUPS

Mr. Gardiner did not agree with the view of the Liberal party in the United States, where it was by an aristocracy of businessmen. He felt that the best way of doing it for the people to discuss their problems in small groups, where each representative and have him recommended to the government.

"Do not get out your organization," he appealed. "No one should be elected to the Liberal party who should get together right now and select good representatives. The younger they are the better."

Mr. Gardiner recalled that he had first been elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 1905. He was then 30 years of age. In the early days, he said, the Liberal party was elected to office, simply because it was the only party in the West.

Turning to a comparison of the Bennett and King governments, Mr. Gardiner said that the third year of Mr. Bennett's regime had been the worst of his first six months of his first term.

MAKING PROGRESS

"We haven't yet got a trade back to where it was when Mr. Bennett was elected, but we are making progress," he said. "The Liberal party is making progress."

Mr. Gardiner explained that the Liberal party is making progress in the country men to plant large wheat and corn fields. They will realize the damage done in this way within the next few years.

He recalled that in the early days of the Liberal party, when wheat crop had been ruined in Canada, the Liberal party had been a factor in the poor harvest.

The minister concluded by dealing briefly with the debt problem and its solution. In Saskatchewan, he said, the debt had been reduced in about half of the province by nearly one hundred million dollars. The Liberal government had offered the same deal to Alberta but it was not taken of it as yet.

"You should elect to your provincial government," he said. "The Liberal party would co-operate with the federal government in this job."

James A. MacKinnon, Liberal M.P. for West Edmonton, made a brief address to the convention, giving the speech of the Hon. Gardiner.

McDonald Elected

J. W. McDonald, M.P. of Macleod, was elected president of the constituency association succeeding to the position of the late Hon. P. J. Pincher. Mr. McDonald had been elected to the convention for the next federal election would be nominated. At the election of the chair, two names were placed in nomination. P. J. Pincher, defeated Liberal candidate in the last election, and Alex. Allen, Staveley member. As a result of a discussion of the advisability of nominating the candidate at this time, both names were subsequently withdrawn and it was decided almost unanimously to postpone the nomination.

AGED WOMAN AUTO VICTIM AT CROSSING

When Mrs. McFarlane beginning to cross the street from south to north at the east crosswalk. She had proceeded only five or six feet when the south-bound car hit her.

"I knew my horn, and then she hesitated and seemed as though she wanted to pass her car as I intended to pass her on that side."

She suddenly started up and hit her the front of the car. She was thrown into the air and landed on the ground. There were chains on the wheels and the car slid right towards her and the right fender and lamp caught her up and carried her into the car.

She was killed instantly. She was 62 years of age. She was a widow and had no family. She was a native of Scotland and had lived in Edmonton for many years.

Police said that Mrs. McFarlane died instantly when her head was crushed between the front of the car and the rear.

One of the men who saw the accident, who was on the street at the time, said that he saw the car hit her and that she was killed instantly.

Rumors of Rumors for King of Belgium Denied

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Prince Charles of Belgium is expected in England today less than 24 hours after the unsuccessful arrival of his brother, King Leopold III, and Queen Mother, who fled from Belgium.

Belgium's king is expected to visit with the Duke and Duchess of Portland.

Leopold's inquest visit to the Duke of Portland's Welbeck Abbey, where he is expected to be immediately and officially denied of his romantic attachment to the late Queen Mother.

Prince Charles, who is 34, was reported engaged to Lady Anne of the Duke of Portland's Welbeck Abbey, where he is expected to be immediately and officially denied of his romantic attachment to the late Queen Mother.

Lady Anne was a young girl when she was engaged to Prince Charles. She was a native of Belgium and had lived in England for many years.

Police said that Mrs. McFarlane died instantly when her head was crushed between the front of the car and the rear.

One of the men who saw the accident, who was on the street at the time, said that he saw the car hit her and that she was killed instantly.

PREMIER OPENS UP SUBJECT OF LATE ELECTION

"Bible doctrine and human egoism," he said. "I heard no mention of Bible doctrine in this campaign. He must be told to the fact that our general belief in the Word of God has not been acceptable to the people of Leithridge."

"I hardly believe that. And as regards human egoism, we have always maintained that we are fighting for the welfare of all, not the few, nor any individual. I fear our unnamed friend from Drumheller has on a pair of glasses with very red lenses. He must feel some unhappiness with such a prejudice as this."

"Personally, I have no comment to make. Why should I? No one can prevent his viewpoint from affecting his conclusion."

"I am convinced that every result has a cause. It is the discovery of the cause that is of most consequence, not our opinions of the result."

NOT SUFFERING

"I am asking myself the question, why did so many people vote against a change in the present system? Are they satisfied with conditions under which they are living, or is the issue not fairly defined for them? It is surely quite evident that many people are not satisfied with the issues in point."

"We have been urging the plan since last August," he said. "The provincial government has simply not taken a decision yet. They have not refused to accede to the plan."

In an earlier interview Mr. Gardiner had been quoted as saying the provincial government had refused to co-operate with the federal government in this job.

James A. MacKinnon, Liberal M.P. for West Edmonton, made a brief address to the convention, giving the speech of the Hon. Gardiner.

McDonald Elected

J. W. McDonald, M.P. of Macleod, was elected president of the constituency association succeeding to the position of the late Hon. P. J. Pincher. Mr. McDonald had been elected to the convention for the next federal election would be nominated. At the election of the chair, two names were placed in nomination. P. J. Pincher, defeated Liberal candidate in the last election, and Alex. Allen, Staveley member. As a result of a discussion of the advisability of nominating the candidate at this time, both names were subsequently withdrawn and it was decided almost unanimously to postpone the nomination.

Resolutions adopted pledged the confidence of the convention in Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and his cabinet, expressed sympathy for the action of the ministers efforts to reduce tariffs, urged the government to establish an irrigation system between the two rivers, requested the government to secure as favorable an exchange rate as possible for Canadian cattle into the United States, and com-

When Mrs. McFarlane beginning to cross the street from south to north at the east crosswalk. She had proceeded only five or six feet when the south-bound car hit her.

"I knew my horn, and then she hesitated and seemed as though she wanted to pass her car as I intended to pass her on that side."

She suddenly started up and hit her the front of the car. She was thrown into the air and landed on the ground. There were chains on the wheels and the car slid right towards her and the right fender and lamp caught her up and carried her into the car.

She was killed instantly. She was 62 years of age. She was a widow and had no family. She was a native of Scotland and had lived in Edmonton for many years.

Police said that Mrs. McFarlane died instantly when her head was crushed between the front of the car and the rear.

Poet Charms Guests At Party In Her Honor

"Oh, I don't need any introduction. I just talk to people because I like them," spoke Edna, the Edmonton poet, who was the guest of honor at a party in her honor given by the Edmonton Poet Society.

Although she is modest about her own work, it is easy to get Mrs. Edna's poems. Charming and witty, especially her very good friends, Mrs. Edna's poems are full of life and interest. She has a way of making her poetry so simple and so full of life that it is almost impossible to read it without being charmed.

HOUSE that Jack built has nothing on the little little house that the dolls have built. Christmas shoppers, especially from the ages of five years up to 12, and even the adults who really like dolls, were attracted to one of the special windows of the Macdonald hotel.

With their opening play, "And So To Bed," in which the dolls are already thinking about their second production, "The Dolls' Christmas Eve," the dolls have a lot to say about their own lives.

Yule Finds I.O.D.E. Units Very Busy

Christmas season finds members of the various chapters of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, busy with their preparations for the holiday season.

DUKE OF EDINBURGH

Especially busy and active at this season is the Duke of Edinburgh, who is the patron of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.

LADY AIGLE SCOTT

Lady Aigle Scott, who is the patron of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, is also the patron of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.

Women's Curling

Following an active week of curling members of the "Thistle Curling Club" are preparing for the upcoming season.

Annual Students' Program Of Women's Musical Club Is Acclaimed "Best Yet"

At least equaling the best of its kind of bygone years in quality and interest, the annual student program of the Women's Musical Club, given at the Masonic Temple on Saturday afternoon, was acclaimed "the best yet."

NEW BRANCHES REPRESENTED

Each of the previous programs have been confined to piano, vocal and violin solos, but this year the Women's Musical Club has taken a new step and has included a variety of other instruments.

Seventeenth century songs sung to the accompaniment of several instruments, such as the harpsichord, lute, and other instruments, were featured in the program.

One of the songs, "Beauty Rest," which will be sung by Misses Brown and Green, was especially composed by Devis himself while he was in the city.

WILL FILL GREAT NEED

There is a dearth of orchestral musicians of genuine ability in the city, and it is hoped that the school will be able to fill this need.

TRANSFORMATION

Richard Ball, boy soloist, whose appearances are always welcome, will sing the hymn "The Lord's Prayer" at the Christmas service.

GRAIN FARMING

Bob Molloy, clarinet soloist, played a fantasia for clarinet from the program of the Christmas concert.

THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES BENEFIT BY

Investment of Over $342,000,000 in Life Insurance Funds

IMAGINE more than 342 Million Dollars actively at work in a multitude of worth-while projects—stimulating employment throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta! Then you have an idea of what Life Insurance investments mean to the Prairie Provinces.

These Life Insurance Dollars—the savings of yourself and many other policyholders—aid cities, towns and townships. They help finance agriculture, live-stock and other industries—build new homes and schools—extend transportation systems—and make possible local improvements.

At the same time, Life Insurance Dollars—paid securely by policyholders and their families—They safeguard the widows and the fatherless against want and privation—and they provide financial security for men and women in their old age.

Officers Are Hosts At Gay Party

DOROTHY DIX Says:

According To

We People Go South:
Food Southern Style

Bremner Notes

Debunker

By Anne Adams

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am 30 years of age and belong to a prosperous family. I have had everything handed to me on a silver platter all my life and have now my first real steady job, and like it. Am in love with a girl who has also had everything given to her, but she wanted our families object to our marrying because they think that we are too young and can't support ourselves. When I asked them to stand on their own two feet and make a man of it with me when we have always depended upon our parents until now? UNDECIDED LARRY.

Answer: Larry, it will be possible for two youngsters, one in her teens and the other barely out of his, to cut loose from the parents who have done everything for them and make a success of it, but the chances are so enormously against it that it isn't even a sporting proposition. So my earnest advice to you is to listen to your parents' counsel and wait until you are old enough to stand on your own feet and prove that you are able to support a wife before you take one.

When are expensive haircuts, you know. You haven't any idea that living costs so much and that there are so many kids in the world who come to grips with the butcher, baker and candlestick-maker, to say nothing of the landlord, the housewife, the doctor, and so on. When Papa paid it was one thing. When you have to pay it is another. And quite different.

Of course, you will say that in the past boys and girls of the age of you and your sweetie married and started out in life for themselves, and they got along all right, so why shouldn't you? Perhaps your father and mother married on a shoestring when they were just out of school and look how happy they have been and how they prospered.

True, but the difference between your pioneer ancestors and you and your girl is that they had been hardened to meet life, while you have been sheltered and protected from it. From the cradle they were their own. They were married they went to a little ten-room bungalow without when they assumed the burdens of marriage their shoulders were strong enough to support a better life.

In those days both men and women were inured to work and sacrifices and to an existence that had no luxuries or diversions in it. Of luxuries, as we know them, they had none. When a young couple married they went to a little ten-room bungalow without when they assumed the burdens of marriage their shoulders were strong enough to support a better life.

That is why, when the modern boy and girl marry before they are ready for it, their marriage is often pre-failure. They cannot stand every day and the make-up of living, but by the time their wedding clothes wear out, their romance is also in tatters and they are on their way to the divorce court.

And, furthermore, you are too young to marry, anyway. No boy of 20 has the maturity or the ability to take on the responsibilities of a family. Their tastes are changing every day and the make-up of living, but by the time their wedding clothes wear out, their romance is also in tatters and they are on their way to the divorce court.

To take your father's advice, son, and don't marry until you have arrived at man's estate. You will save yourself a lot of headaches if you do.

Optical Illusion of Having Rare Beauty

By ALICIA HART

Anybody who needs further proof that the time and effort spent beautifying eyes are not worth while and only to look at a Hollywood star before, then again just as she is ready for a screen test, she is a make-up artist in the studio can do to make her eyes appear larger, more luminous, really lively, is nothing short of miraculous.

For instance, do you brush your eyes of cold cream lightly over your face and applied powder? You should, you know. The resulting film creates the effect for which eyeshadow does the work. However, she can appreciate that shiny laces, subtly darkened lashes and neatly groomed brows enhance the appearance of any eyes.

Rag Dolls For Fair Or Gift

By ALICE BROOKS

Here's the easiest, peppiest pair of rag dolls that ever danced their way into a youngster's heart. Donate them the fair—the fair will like 'em! Give them to a lot for Christmas—they'll melt with instant sympathy. You'll enjoy making 'em, too, for they're but two pieces of cloth and a strip of thread joined. The hair and features are embroidered on afterwords with few stitches and a little wool. The simple designed clothes take no time at all to make.

In pattern #71 you will find a pattern for a doll about 18 inches high, pattern for making the clothes, directions for making doll and cloth requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in to the Edmonton Bulletin Household Arts Dept., Edmonton, Alberta. The name to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS AND PATTERN NUMBER.

Saturday's questions and answers.

Question 84. You are South, and vulnerable. Opponents are not vulnerable. You have 40 points. The bidding has been:

North East South West
1 Heart 3 Clubs
2 Diamonds 3 Hearts Pass Pass

You hold:
♠ Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♥ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♦ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♣ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What card do you lead?

Answer: You should open the lead. Since you control the spades and the club suit, there is no need to release the ace of your partner's bid suit. Partner's bid suit is originally and his second suit bid might have been largely a desperate measure against opponents' part-score. Such defensive bids are usually made by a player who is short in the suit. For full explanation of the lead, see the "Today's Hand" below.

Question 85. You are South. Both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North East South West
1 Heart 3 Spades 1 Spade Pass Pass

You hold:
♠ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♥ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♦ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♣ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What card do you lead?

Answer: You should open the lead. Since you control the spades and the club suit, there is no need to release the ace of your partner's bid suit. Partner's bid suit is originally and his second suit bid might have been largely a desperate measure against opponents' part-score. What To Do

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

A short time ago, the Southern Dietetic Association got together in Richmond, Virginia, and were in southern fried chicken, spoon bread and Lady Baltimore cake just like many who never heard of dietetics.

At the University of North Carolina, Sally Hill of the Progressive Farmer, and Janet Cameron, food and nutrition specialist for the state of Virginia, and the banquet was a success.

John Blue Recalls His Early Days As Alberta Librarian

Official Notice of Appointment Appeared in The Bulletin 30 Years Ago Saturday—Met Many Noted Men

Thirty years ago Saturday, in the columns of The Bulletin, there appeared a feature story which began as follows: "John Blue has been appointed provincial librarian. The choice is an admirable one."

Scans Past

And thirty years later, Mr. Blue, now gray-haired and secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, sent his memories back over the dim techniques of the province, recalling early recollections of H. Ross, R. Bennett, A. L. Hinton, former premier of the province, A. C. Rutherford, now chancellor of the University of Alberta, and many others, all of whom were patrons of the provincial library.

"The first provincial librarian was Senator W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge, who served in that capacity for about a year. Then in 1897 I held the position as a reporter. The Bulletin, at the request of Premier Rutherford, to direct the fortunes of the newly founded and struggling library."

"The library was in a little room on the second floor of the Empire Building, where the old adobe building was erected at the foot of 100 street. It was housed in a room about 10 feet square on the top floor."

LESS THAN 1000 BOOKS
"It had less than 1000 books. Today it has more than 60,000 volumes, many of them priceless and some of them Canadian history."

Mr. Rutherford regarded the library as his life. He always had a personal interest in its welfare, as he felt that the university chancellor will take this suggestion in the spirit in which it is offered.

"Mr. Rutherford has an invaluable collection of books and pamphlets treating of the growth of Canada. I am sure that on any one day he will find something to place them in the disposal either of such a reader or a student."

There is a library used to come into the library often and is at the disposal of the library. It is in the Dominion Times building.

"I don't remember him asking for any particular book, such as Macaulay, or Gibbon or Burke. He probably had them all thumb-nailed editions of them in his room."

RAILWAY DEBATE
"Besides, about the only thing that he had read was the Dominion Times, the great railway debate, and the great railway debate, and the great railway debate."

It was his youth, the words ran out of Mr. Bennett's mouth as rapidly as water falling over a steep cliff. He had an entire book on the subject of the railway debate, and he was able to take out any reporter who asked him for it.

He said he would never forget what he and Arthur Stinson, then a member of the judiciary, and S. B. Woods, K.C., then deputy attorney-general, did to Robert McLean, the court reporter, in 1907.

"It was in the famous lumber trial in which some of the members of the lumbermen's association had been acting in restraint of trade."

ALMOST EXHAUSTED
"Both Mr. Woods and Mr. Bennett had spoken for a mile a minute. Both were almost exhausted. Both had been coming for adjourning the court."

Then Arthur Stinson surprised everyone and almost killed the court reporter. He jerked up his knees, took a deep breath and without preparation and without pause, delivered oral judgment on a case whose intricate evidence had stretched out over five days.

"It was one of the most remarkable intellectual performances I have ever seen."

GROAN AT MEMORY
"But if any one ever asks Mr. McLean what he thinks that day, all you will get will be a groan at memory of the work he had to do. He had to remember the facts with the three most fast-talking men in Alberta."

"Yes, I suppose I knew most of the speeches before they were delivered, because I got the books of the members from which they were drawn."

"The habit of legislators don't change in a mere thirty years," he concluded.

A meeting of Edmonton Trades and Labor Council will be held in the Labor hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A number of important questions are listed for discussion:

WARDEN URGES TRAINING FOR BOYS IN JAIL

Should Not Be Forced Into Contact With Hardened Criminals, He Says

"Something must be done about providing correctional training for the youthful offenders in Alberta jails, or there is a danger of them becoming criminal and a great burden on society."

E. B. Blake, warden of the Lethbridge Jail told delegates to the annual Civil Service convention during his final session Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Blake pointed out that young boys should not be sent to jail, but should be sent to a reformatory where they would be given the benefit of a life of crime.

He said that the boys who are sent to jail are often the result of a life of crime, and that they should be given the benefit of a life of crime.

Relief Manager McKee Reports That Increase No Larger Than Usually Experienced At This Time of Year

Steady increase in the city relief roll during the past few weeks due to the completion of late fall work is reported by Relief Manager H. F. McKee, who said Monday, however, that the increase in the number of cases on relief was no larger than usually experienced at this time of year.

The number of cases on relief at this time of year and generally continues until March," he explained.

The official record of the fact that the city relief roll during the past few weeks due to the completion of late fall work is reported by Relief Manager H. F. McKee, who said Monday, however, that the increase in the number of cases on relief was no larger than usually experienced at this time of year.

A recent report issued by the relief department shows that for the 47-week period ending last month, the total of 363 married men and women had applied for relief as compared to 384 for the corresponding period last year. These are new cases, and do not include the total of cases applying for relief for the same period numbered 61 as against 106 in 1936.

Average weekly number of married men and women on relief (family cases for the 47 weeks was 204, with the corresponding total for single women and girls was 75. Last year's figures were 218 and 87 respectively.

Two tiny plagues of recent discovery, which come closer to the earth than any other known plagues except the mumps, have been given the names of Apollo and Aphrodite.

Just about the time Old Man Winter was taking a drubbing from some soft-souled of Young Man Chinook this morning, Ben Barnes in a fit of temper drove on his Arctic superior for a right bang-up imitation of a hailstorm which caught Edmonton on the street. On the left, it was Mrs. Laura Hutchings was sitting her airtight. She had just come from the coast, and it was a pity that she was not on account of the little storm, center of the boys really had to put on their lights, driving auto was that fun—just like that, on one—everyone in Edmonton will recognize "Old Sir" Collins, beloved of the city fathers, as he makes his way vending cigarettes. Bottom (4) is a picture of a man actually sweating an overcoat with the temperature at 28 above—despite the miniature storm.

City Engineer A. W. Hadow left Edmonton over the week-end for Memphis, Tenn. where he will attend a road engineers' convention. The city official is particularly interested in the road that problem, and will study methods of evaluating this situation as far as possible while at the convention. He expects to return to Edmonton within 10 days.

An outbreak of car thefts over the week-end, three of which are believed to have been committed by the same person, has caused police busy Monday. Five car thefts were reported Saturday night, but three of them have been recovered by Monday morning.

At the annual meeting of the Edmonton District Table Cloth Manufacturers' Association held in the Macdonald hotel on Saturday, the following officers were elected for 1938: president, T. H. Howes, Millet; secretary, A. G. Campbell, Leduc; treasurer, Fred Turnbull, St. Albert; directors, W. L. Gray, Millet; M. B. Stetson, Fort Saskatchewan; M. Foster, Nisku, and Angus McDowell, St. Albert.

Canadian Airways reported that Con Farrell would leave Edmonton with two passengers, Pat Taylor and Henry Davidson, for Yellowknife sometime Monday afternoon. Pilot Rudy Heuse is expected to arrive in the city from Yellowknife, and Norville Small from Regina, later Monday. N. Savie is reported north-bound at Yellowknife.

United Air Transport reported that Sheldon Lock had left Cheyenne, Alberta, early Monday in one of their planes with George McInnis of Medicine Hat, en route for northern Saskatchewan. Eric Whithouse will leave Edmonton for Whitehorse sometime early Monday afternoon. Ted Field will leave Edmonton for Grande Prairie either Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning.

LINDBERGH'S

SPOTTED AS LINER DOCKS

Unexplained Elite Broken
As Lone Eagle and Return To U.S.

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer
ENGLWOOD, N.J., Dec. 8.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh returned in seclusion here today without revealing the purpose of their surprise return from a two-year exile abroad.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—America's lone eagle, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, came home today, ending his two years of self-imposed exile with a surprise visit to his native land.

Unheralded, amid the strictest secrecy, Col. Lindbergh, who was arrested on the S.S. President Harding, came back today for a brief interlude during the Christmas holidays before he left again.

The famous aviator never left his two small children, five and two, and six months old, in England. They were with him at the Lindbergh home, "Long Run," Sevenoaks, in Kent, England, where Lindbergh's sister, Mrs. Audrey Nye, and her husband, Mr. Morgan, who lives in Wales.

Arrival of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh almost passed unnoticed. An airport ship news photographer was the first person to see them.

Other photographers who reported were roving the first class quarters in search of the Lindberghs. When Col. Lindbergh, his wife, and his two children, slipped down a side freight elevator without being seen.

Through the formality of customs inspection, and after a short delay, a sedan waiting at the curb took them to the home of Mrs. Lindbergh, in Englewood, N.J.

In returning home, the couple travelled under the name of "Mr. and Mrs. Gregory" with no initial CAMERAMAN SPOTS

Lindbergh's homecoming was almost as secretive as his departure. Only a sharp-eyed cameraman, who happened to be lingering near the Lindberghs' home, spotted them.

The slim, serious-faced colonel, wearing a dark overcoat, was seen in the presence of his wife and two children. On his departure two years ago he was far from being the news became known.

The report, which Lindbergh never denied or confirmed, was that he had taken his small family to work a harvest in Canada, because life in the United States had become "unbearable" after the gangster threat as an aftermath of the kidnapping murder of his first-born son in 1932 and the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, his abductor.

Ships officers said Col. Lindbergh boarded the President Harding at Southampton, wearing a dark overcoat, and with coat collar turned up, covering the lower part of his face with his arm. He appeared worried, they said, but he was relieved before the way led to harbor.

THAT IS BRIEF
Their visit will be brief, one of the liner's officers said. "They plan to return abroad immediately after Christmas."

The famous couple sat at the "main place" at the captain's table throughout the trip, with the 35-year-old aviator, who was the first solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927, wearing a tuxedo and black tie.

They mingled freely with the passengers. Col. Lindbergh exercised on the run every morning and was frequently pelted the deck together, but did not attend any of the movie showing devices.

TURNED HIS BACK
Col. Lindbergh was besieged by newspaper photographers and reporters, but he turned his back on them and unobtrusively ignored questions.

"How about a word, Colonel?" a reporter asked.
Col. Lindbergh appeared not to hear the question. He ducked into a sedan waiting at the harbor, and then the car sped away.

An aviation official in New York expressed the opinion the "Lone Eagle" may have returned home with United States government officials on plane for trans-Atlantic service.

Lindbergh is associated in an advisory capacity with Pan-American Airways, which has been conducting test flights across the Atlantic. He has been in the commercial trans-Atlantic flight possibilities for the company in Europe.

Society Seeks
Re-Open Case
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—A German-American organization claiming 80,000 supporters has today moved to reopen the Lindbergh kidnapping case with appeals to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey.

Blinded by the Lindberghs' unexpected return to the United States, the Citizens' Protective League telegraphed Hoffman to "suspend" payment of the Lindbergh reward, as it felt the couple have not yet been caught.

To the aviator the league urged advice of its appeal to Hoffman and request to the governor and to the Lindberghs to "suspend" the reward, as it felt the couple have not yet been caught.

The message was sent to the league and chairman of the league, Mrs. Bruno Hauptmann, widow of the executed Lindbergh kidnaper, who he said, "is a benefit of her husband and in dire distress." She lives in the Bronx with her son.

RED MAY TINGE
FACE OF MAYOR
BUT NOT BOOKS

RED DEER, Alta, Dec. 8.—Ratnapur of Red Deer is a happy town.

"We have cut down expenses to a minimum and I must apologize for so large a bank balance," said Mayor S. S. Hogg.

Reporting to the annual ratnapur meeting, the mayor reported a surplus of $15,000 compared with $2,500 in 1936.

During the past 10 years Red Deer has paid off debentures of $100,000 and added to the fund of $22,000 a year, as against outstanding debentures in 1927 of $22,981.

Ships officers said Col. Lindbergh boarded the President Harding at Southampton, wearing a dark overcoat, and with coat collar turned up, covering the lower part of his face with his arm. He appeared worried, they said, but he was relieved before the way led to harbor.

THAT IS BRIEF
Their visit will be brief, one of the liner's officers said. "They plan to return abroad immediately after Christmas."

The famous couple sat at the "main place" at the captain's table throughout the trip, with the 35-year-old aviator, who was the first solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927, wearing a tuxedo and black tie.

They mingled freely with the passengers. Col. Lindbergh exercised on the run every morning and was frequently pelted the deck together, but did not attend any of the movie showing devices.

TURNED HIS BACK
Col. Lindbergh was besieged by newspaper photographers and reporters, but he turned his back on them and unobtrusively ignored questions.

"How about a word, Colonel?" a reporter asked.
Col. Lindbergh appeared not to hear the question. He ducked into a sedan waiting at the harbor, and then the car sped away.

An aviation official in New York expressed the opinion the "Lone Eagle" may have returned home with United States government officials on plane for trans-Atlantic service.

Lindbergh is associated in an advisory capacity with Pan-American Airways, which has been conducting test flights across the Atlantic. He has been in the commercial trans-Atlantic flight possibilities for the company in Europe.

Society Seeks
Re-Open Case
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—A German-American organization claiming 80,000 supporters has today moved to reopen the Lindbergh kidnapping case with appeals to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey.

Blinded by the Lindberghs' unexpected return to the United States, the Citizens' Protective League telegraphed Hoffman to "suspend" payment of the Lindbergh reward, as it felt the couple have not yet been caught.

To the aviator the league urged advice of its appeal to Hoffman and request to the governor and to the Lindberghs to "suspend" the reward, as it felt the couple have not yet been caught.

The message was sent to the league and chairman of the league, Mrs. Bruno Hauptmann, widow of the executed Lindbergh kidnaper, who he said, "is a benefit of her husband and in dire distress." She lives in the Bronx with her son.

"Dawn Patrol" Will Carry
On Research From Edmonton Airport

In order to gain data which meteorologists hope will enable them to give more accurate forecasts of the weather, and eventually enable them to forecast changes long in advance, a "Dawn Patrol" will carry on research from the Edmonton Airport.

Operation of the present system of forecasting the weather is based on the use of a "Dawn Patrol" which carries on research from the Edmonton Airport.

Establishment of the research station here is the third permanent station in Canada, others being at Toronto, and in Detroit, Newfoundland.
